DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

2. The species are as follows:

Species A: wherein the impedance changer is provided to at least one of a plurality of high-frequency cables for supplying high-frequency electric power from the high-frequency electric power feeding circuit to the plurality of discharge electrodes (ex. Figure 1); and Species B: wherein the impedance changer is provided between the discharge electrodes and a grounding point (ex. Figure 8).

3. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

4. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1763

5. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A: Claims 3-7

Species B: Claims 8 and 9.

The following claim(s) are generic: 1, 2, 10, and 11.

6. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The features shared by Species A and B; i.e. the features of the device recited in independent Claim 2, on which the claims drawn to Species A and B depend, and the feature that the voltage distribution regulator is an impedance changer; are taught by the prior art. For example, European Patent Application Publication EP 0955665A2 (from Applicant's IDS) teaches a plasma CVD apparatus (Figure 1) with which high-frequency electric power generated by a high-frequency electric power feeding circuit 36 is fed to a plurality of discharge electrodes (rungs of ladder electrode 32; Figure 2), and plasma is generated between the discharge electrodes and a substrate 33 which are in a film formation chamber 31 into which a gas for forming a film containing a substance has been introduced through gas discharge ports 37a, so as to vapor deposit the substance on the substrate (Paragraph 35), the apparatus comprising a voltage distribution regulator 61a-61h for adjusting deviation in distribution of voltage on the discharge electrodes, the distribution of voltage occurring in a direction at right angles to a direction of fed electric power through the discharge electrode (Figure 2), and wherein the voltage distribution regulator is an impedance changer (Paragraphs 31-34). Species A and B further have the different special technical features enumerated above and disclosed in further detail in the cited Figures and corresponding sections of the Specification. Thus Species A and B do not relate to a single general inventive concept.

7. A telephone call was made to the office of Applicant's Representative on 30 March 2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1763

9. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

10. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

11. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
